

ACKNOWLEDGE IT

Barre Has to Bow to the Inevitable.
Scores of Citizens Prove It.

After reading the public statement of this representative citizen of Barre given below, you must come to this conclusion: A remedy which cured years ago, which has kept the kidneys in good health since, can be relied upon to perform the same work in other cases. Read this:

Mrs. N. M. Nelson, 18 West street, Barre, Vt., says: "I hold the same high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills to-day as when I publicly recommended them over eleven years ago. At that time I was suffering from kidney trouble, which had been brought on by an attack of la grippe. I steadily grew worse, and the lightest household work was too much for me. I spent over an hour or so sharp pains across my back compelled me to sit down. Then other symptoms of kidney complaint appeared and I was really in a bad way. I spent over one hundred dollars for doctors' prescriptions and medicines of various kinds, but as I found no relief, I became discouraged. One day my husband brought home a box of Doan's Kidney Pills from Dr. Williams' drug store and told me to try them. A few doses brought the best of results, and I continued taking the remedy until entirely relieved. My children have also used this preparation with splendid results, and in view of these experiences, I advise other kidney sufferers to give it a trial."

CHELSEA.

Mrs. Thomas J. Quade left last Thursday for Boston to visit her sister, Mrs. George Ware, and before she returns she will visit her former home at Lynn, Mass.

The members of the Christian Endeavor society of the Congregational church held a largely attended and very enjoyable social at the church parlors Friday evening.

Glenn Lougee, who makes his home in the family of Truman H. Spear, spent Saturday and Sunday at the home of Willie Briggs in Williamstown, where he lived at one time for a few months.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Bacon arrived from North Charlestown, N. H., Friday afternoon and are stopping temporarily at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edix N. Bacon, awaiting the arrival of their household goods, and as soon as possible they will establish themselves on the farm recently purchased by Mr. Bacon of Elisha Burgess. Mr. Bacon was a Chelsea boy who went to North Charlestown some five or six years ago, where he has since successfully conducted a large mercantile business, but finding that his health would not longer admit of the confinement of indoor life he has sold his business there and returns to his native town with the hope of regaining his health and strength under the fresh air treatment and the freedom of the farm life. Both Mr. and Mrs. Bacon have a large circle of friends here who will welcome their return to town and hope for the return of health and the continued prosperity they have enjoyed in the past.

The New Chelsea Dramatic company will present at the opera house on Thursday (Thanksgiving) evening, the new play, "Nan, the Mascotte," which is a comedy-drama in four acts, and they advertise it to be the most elaborate play they have ever put upon the stage. Mr. W. H. Cook who, since the formation of the company, has played the leading part, will not be in the cast of characters owing to his having accepted a position in Providence, R. I., but the company has been fortunate enough to secure the services of Mr. A. H. Talpey to take the part originally assigned to Mr. Cook. The Chandler music hall orchestra of Randolph has been engaged to furnish music during the play as well as for the grand Thanksgiving ball, which will follow the play. This orchestra is generally considered to be one of the best in this section of the country and an opportunity to listen to its selections will alone be worth the price of admission to the play. This drama will be the first of a series which the company proposes to give during the winter, and they have spared no pains to make it worthy of liberal patronage and support.

Clothing Caught in Machinery and James Millard Was Badly Bruised.

Ambrogio Frontini was found guilty in city court yesterday of breach of the peace and was fined by Judge Harvey $15 and costs of $10.38. He took an appeal and was placed in $100 bonds, which he furnished. The trouble is alleged to have started over money matters. William Burns, the complaining witness, stated that he had reason a short time ago to sue the defendant for a sum of money, since which time there have been hard feelings between the two, which resulted last Saturday in Frontini attacking Burns and attempting to strike him with a club. Frontini claimed he was attacked by Burns.

The Ministers' Monday club met yesterday at the Y. M. C. A. with two clergymen in attendance. Two papers were read, one by Rev. J. W. Barnett of Barre and the other by Rev. Arthur Hewitt of Plainfield.

James Millard was badly hurt yesterday at the Colton Manufacturing company's plant, where he is employed. As he was cleaning the castings back of the rolling barrels used in the plating process, he was caught in the machinery. He was badly bruised about the body and one ankle was wrenched. It is not expected that his injuries will be lasting.

"The Liver Pills act So Naturally and Easily."

Such a statement, coming from the cashier of a bank, shows what confidence responsible people have in these pills. Mr. A. L. Wilson after trying them wrote:

"I have used Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills and also your Anti-Pain Pills, on myself, with good results. The Liver Pills act so naturally and so easily that I scarcely know that I have taken a pill. Frequently being troubled with headache I take an Anti-Pain Pill and get immediate relief in every case."

TOLSTOI ON HIS TRAVELS AGAIN.

Leaves Shamardino Monastery, Where He Went After Quitting Home.

Tula, Russia, Nov. 15.—Count Tolstoi and Makovetsky unexpectedly left the monastery Shamardino yesterday afternoon, announcing that they were going to Moscow. However, they left the train upon which they started at a junction and boarded another train for the South. It is conjectured that the count intends to join the colony of Tolstoists in Caucasasia.

Count Tolstoi's family will make no effort to induce him to abandon his self-imposed exile and return to the peasant hut at Yasnyaya Polina. His wishes are sacred to the countless who, however, has sent a message to her husband imploring that she be permitted to join him and share the hardships which he is determined to experience.

On the way to Shamardino, Count Tolstoi stopped over night at the monastery of Optina. Before entering the place he announced:

"I am the excommunicated and anathematized Leo Tolstoi. Is there any objection to my staying here?"

The reply was: "It is both a duty and a pleasure to offer you shelter."

Tolstoi spent the day in the discussion of religious subjects with an aged monk, whom he had met on a visit to the monastery 17 years ago.

The following morning the count resumed his pilgrimage. He is clad in a peasant's suit of rough material and wears high boots. He carries no passport and when he left home he took only $17 with him. However, his daughter, Alexandra, who had learned her father's intentions, contrived to hide $510 in a pocket of Dr. Makovetsky's clothes. Alexandra has since joined her father at Shamardino.

CHRISTYS TO LIVE APART.

Artist Says the Efforts at Reconciliation Have Failed.

Zanesville, O., Nov. 15.—In spite of the hopes of relatives that a settlement could be effected, there is to be no reconciliation between Howard Chandler Christy, artist and illustrator, and his wife, Mrs. Maybelle Christy. Mr. Christy was seen Sunday at his home at Duncan Falls, near Zanesville, and asked when his wife was coming home.

"As far as I know, and from the present indications, she will never return to Duncan Falls," said the artist.

"I will not join her in New York, nor will our daughter, Natalie. Like so many things undertaken with the best of intentions and with the sincerest of motives, those arrangements have gone for nothing."

STILL GUARDING SWAMP

But Officers Do Not Believe Bandits Are There.

Great Barrington, Mass., Nov. 15.—Half a dozen deputy sheriffs and some 40 or 50 citizens, all armed and under command of State Detective Bligh of Pittsfield, were posted yesterday on the outskirts of the swamp in which the three masked bandits disappeared on Saturday, after holding up three men and robbing them of the payroll of the Worcester Construction company, consisting of about $10,000 in cash and $10,000 in checks.

It was generally believed that the bandits were no longer in the swamp and the guard maintained yesterday was more in the nature of a precautionary measure than an active search for the robbers.

Nevel Idea of Brattleboro Organization.

The Brattleboro Mutual Aid association has decided to rent a house for the purpose of enlarging its work. Demands on the association have largely increased lately and its members have decided upon the novel plan of undertaking a training school in connection with its other work, that there may be a supply of women for temporary help in an emergency in any household and a source from which the staff of attendants may be kept up. The length of the course of training will be one year. It will include all branches of household service, day nursery work, plain sewing and mending.

The women in training will be given lodging and board when in and they will be paid $2 a week. They will be sent to families by the hour or day, the day not to exceed eight hours. A charge of 21 a day will be made, with dinner, 70 cents for one half day, and from 15 to 25 cents by the hour.

In special outside work and in the beginning of the course, the instructor may go with the woman to initiate and direct her. While in training, these women will wear a uniform of black wash material with linen collar, cuffs and cap.

At the end of the year's course a certificate will be given for efficiency in cooking, laundry work, parlor and table service and general housework. Any one engaging one of these workers permanently will pay an adequate wage fixed by the association.

Decision for Packers.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 15.—The state court of errors and appeals yesterday afternoon reversed the decision of Supreme Court Judge Swayne, directing the National Packing company and the other big packing concerns to produce their books before the Hudson county grand jury.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

"The Nigger" at the Barre Opera House To-night.

Had Shakespeare lived in these times he might have called his race problem play "The Nigger." Africans not being plentiful in England, and being, withal, more or less a curiosity, he compromised in his play "Othello" and made his leading character a Moor. "Othello" was probably the first modern race problem play.

From time to time during the years that have succeeded Shakespeare, plays exploiting the difficulties growing out of the prejudice of the whites against those of darker skin, have been written.

At the Opera House Tuesday, November 15.

ten and acted. Recent years have been notably prolific in the production of plays with race prejudice as a theme. The negro has been staged at lib, but the other dark-skinned people have been the subject of problem plays as strong and virile as those dealing with the problem of the black and white races in the United States.

"Madama Butterfly" is a race problem play, or opera, as you will, as the Japanese is the under race. Little Yossan was the toy of the "white devil" because she belonged to a dark-skinned race. The sense of white responsibility was lost because the Japanese girl was not a Caucasian.

"The Cherry Picker," Joseph Author's play of a few seasons back, was a race problem play with a Hindu background. "Strongheart," "The Squaw Man," with its half-breed pledge of love between the white Englishman and the Indian girl, and now, its equal, "The Silent Ball," are race problem plays in which the claims of white and Indian are pitted against each other.

It is inevitable, however, that America's real race problem play should be founded upon the relations between the whites and the negroes. Bonicault, with no thought of preaching, and seeking only for dramatic effect, struck the human note in the problem when, in "The Octoroon," he conveyed the thought that a man is a man whatever his race of color, and that even a woman with negro blood in her vein can love and hate and suffer, as all women, upon occasion, love and suffer. "The Creole" and "Kit, the Arkansas Traveler," were impregnated with this recurring question of the relations between the white and black races.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin," the epic of the negro race, and a powerful preaching device, the degeneracy of Harriet Beecher Stowe's great book into a ten-twenty-and-thirty dramatic nightmare, was and is one of the greatest race problem plays ever constructed. "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is merely a series of incidents of old slavery days, rather loosely strung together in the play version of the story of the present, though the sin that makes its pivotal character suffer is a legacy of slavery days. Edward Sheldon, the author, denies any desire to preach or to mould public opinion in favor of the under race, and yet underlying the play there seems to be a moral intent—and that is to convince both whites and blacks that they have a mission but that this mission must be worked out along different lines, and at the same time with mutual respect. "The Nigger" will appear at the opera house to-night.
